City of Augusta to use Reach Alert for customer notifications

Like the Bracken County Water District and Bracken County 911, the City of Augusta will now be able to alert their customers of possible interruptions in service. Working along the same lines as the CodeRed program, customers affected by broken waterlines or boil advisories can be notified just as easily as individual customers. Notices of late payments for individual customers can also be sent easily. Notifications can also be sent about trash collection, gas notifications, and also for activities such as meetings for local business owners.

Each household or business can register up to 4 phone numbers and 4 email addresses by visiting www.reachalert.com and signing up. Once on the site, customers can click the blue “Create an account” link and then enter City of Augusta as the Network name, either Resident or Business under Role, and then entering the street address number in the first box and the street name in the second box. At registration, customers can choose to receive text alerts, voice calls, and/or emails. Those choosing text message will immediately receive a 4 digit code on their cells to enter before validating their account. Those without internet service can call the toll free customer service number at 1-877-307-9313 to complete their registration process in about 30 seconds.

The service is free to residents. The cost to the City is $1 per customer the first year and $2 each additional year. The program should save the City money in postage alone in the long run.

“Under the Son” Early Childhood Education Center accepting students

For most parents there is not anything they wouldn’t do so their children grow up happy, healthy, and well adjusted. Early childhood education is one of the most important decisions families can make that will build a lifetime of memories. Families in this area are not faced with the sometimes long waiting lists for quality preschool education as is found in much larger cities with application processes beginning almost before the blessed arrival of the child. We are lucky to have both school affiliated and private preschool programs available.

One of those programs is the newly founded “Under the Son” Early Childhood Education Center. This non-denominational Christian Preschool Program is ran by Beverly Littleton, Director, and Denette Arthur, Assistant Director, affectionately known as “Mrs. Bev” and “Mrs. Denette”. They are dedicated to serving families and children from ages 3 to 5.

Even though the children stay with them for a few years as students, they stay forever in their hearts as family. Evidence could be seen during the “Under the Son” open house on Friday, July 3rd, as former students and their families stopped in to see Mrs. Bev and Mrs. Denette and show their support of the ladies new venture. The evidence of their former students love of them was also evident in the gleam in their eyes and smiles on their faces as they were addressed as “oh, there’s my girl or there’s my boy” and by how quickly they stepped in for hugs from their former teachers.

Beverly and Denette have a desire to share with parents the responsibility of educating their little ones. They know well that at this tender age play is work! As educators they strive to contribute to the children’s experiences by encouraging their interest and efforts. They believe that creating a loving, nurturing environment establishes a sense of security and strong self value, thus, directly affecting their ability to achieve success in the path already chosen for them by God.

Anyone considering preschool is encouraged to stop by and visit them at 201 East Second Street in Augusta, or to call 756-3527 and they will be happy to discuss the various options within their program.

Beverly Littleton has taught preschool for 15 years and served as director for the past 9 years with Denette Arthur at her side. Together they are so excited to serve “Under the Son”.

Along with the community support of the program, Beverly and Denette will be helped by teaching assistants Laura Bach, Heather Clos, and Laura Littleton.

Parking for Community Day, this Saturday

The registration for Community Day is closing on July 3rd and again it appears it will be the largest attendance ever. Since parking is a concern, the parking lots at Bracken County Middle School and Taylor Elementary will be used.

Watch for signs directing you to these parking lots. A shuttle bus will run every 15 minutes between Bracken County High School and the additional parking area. After parking your car, proceed to the designated pickup areas and the shuttle will stop for you. It will run from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

For those who have tour reservations, the morning tours will depart BCHS at 9:30 a.m. and arrive back between 11:30 a.m. and noon. The afternoon tours leave BCHS at 1:30 p.m. and return between 3:30 and 4 p.m.

Bracken County Cross Country and Track Teams to hold Cruise-in Sat., July 11th

The Bracken County Cross Country and Track Teams will host a Cruise-in on Sat., July 11th from 6-9 p.m. on the courthouse square in Brooksville. All car clubs and car enthusiasts are invited to get out their old cars, wash and wax ‘em, for some good old family fun. There will be door prizes, food and drinks, and games for the kids. Motorcycles are welcome.

Rain date will be Saturday, July 18th.

“In the Jungle” theme makes for a successful 4-H Cloverbud Day Camp

The future of Bracken County 4-H is looking bright! On June 29th and 30th, approximately 35 youth enjoyed “In the Jungle” 4-H Cloverbud Day Camp. Youth had an exciting 2 days filled with activities, crafts, games, singing, story time, and even a visit by the Kentucky Reptile Zoo. The teen volunteers and adults are appreciated for their help to make it all possible. The programs success wouldn’t have been possible without them.

Kentucky Horse
Park Transitioning
To Black Fencing

Fence Maintenance Costs
will be Redirected to Key
Operational Needs

The Kentucky Horse Park will soon be transitioning almost 30 miles of white plank fencing to black fencing. The white fencing has been in place since the iconic facility opened in 1978. The park is making this transition due to the economic and operational realities of maintaining white fencing versus black fencing.

"We realize the significance of this change and fully understand and appreciate the tradition of the white fencing at the park," said Kentucky Horse Park Executive Director Jamie Link. "But the reality is that white fence paint costs about three times as much as black paint, white fencing requires repainting at least twice as often as black fencing, and white fencing requires more routine maintenance and resources to keep it at an appropriate level for the Kentucky Horse Park."

The park anticipates an average cost avoidance of more than $50,000 per year with this change. With the cost difference of the paint, as well as the labor required to maintain and paint fencing, the park would rather devote its very limited resources to its horses and guests.

"We plan to begin the fence paint transition very soon," Link said. "We will start with pressure washing, scraping or replacing damaged boards and then apply black paint when the wood surface is adequately prepared. The entire project will take several weeks, perhaps a few months, as weather and resources allow."

The Kentucky Horse Park joins most every other horse farm and equine facility in central Kentucky and beyond that utilizes black plank fencing. All fencing directly around horse show rings, however, will remain white for better visibility and safety purposes.

Thoughts and Meditations from the Scriptures

HELPING OTHERS TO HELP THEMSELVES

The nineteenth century British philosopher John Stuart Mill argued persuasively for a variety of social reforms, and especially for state-supported public education, on the grounds that it "is help towards doing without help." That is, education makes people more likely to be able to take care of themselves and live healthy, independent lives. It may be easier to just give people food or money to meet their immediate needs, but in the long run this may only foster a state of dependency, whereas if we take the time to teach the person how to fend for himself, he might fare better in the long run. Give a man a fish and you feed him for a day but teach him how to fish and you feed him for a lifetime. There are lots of ways in which we can help others to help themselves, whether it is teaching them a skill or trade, or teaching them how to drive or to read. Reading opens doors to a whole world of help, because once you teach someone how to read, it gives them access to the entire fund of human knowledge. We should consider how we might help the people in our community, or even in our own families, to be more independent. - Christopher Simon

(S.B.V.)

Just a beautiful Sun., July 5. We had 72 to worship service.

Our SS lesson was "A Letter From The Battlefield". 2nd Timothy 4:1-8. May the Lord give each of us strength for spiritual battles we face today, knowing that Jesus won the ultimate victory and that one day we will live eternally with Him.

Our specials: Hope Florer played "Do You Know My Jesus?" and "I Surrender All" on the organ. Shirley Young played "God On The Mountain" on the piano. Donnie Johnson sang "In The Arms Of The Lord". So beautiful.

Bro. Ron Foley brought our message as Bro. Jackie was taken to the hospital early this morning. He is suffering from severe dizziness & has been having chest pains. Tests are being run. Ron's message was "Roman Road to Salvation". Jesus came to seek and save that which was lost. We ALL have sinned. We need to confess our sins and believe in Jesus. The gift of God is eternal life.

Rememberinprayer: Bro. Jackie, Madisyn Clos (taken to hospital Sun. morning. Been passing out. Tests were done at Children's Hospital and it may be migraines. See a neurologist in near future), Diane Workman (fell last week & broke ankle. Surgery in a few weeks), Robert Naegal (hospital), Little Jack Shepherd (leukemia), Sandy Blevins (test this week & will see doctor), Barb Howard, Donald Browning, Jimmy Clos, Betty McElfresh (back to nursing home for rehab), David Tabor, and all those on the prayer list and always each other. Pray for the LOST and our country & leaders.

Board Meeting - July 14 at 7 p.m.

Let your little light shine for JESUS.

Raffle tickets remain $1 each and can be purchased from any parishioner. The Pig Roast on July 25 and the Ice Cream Social on July 26 are the major fundraisers for St. James Parish. As in the past, we depend on the help (physical, monetary, spiritual) of all parishioners both current and former to make this a successful event! Many hands are needed in the kitchen, kiddie land, silent auction, bingo, and food areas, along with set up and clean up! Please call me at 735-3519 and I will happily direct you and your talents to the corresponding committee!

TRASH TALK

Howdy Folks! With all the rain we have been experiencing, the places for water to accumulate and become miniature pools also become the perfect habitat for mosquitoes! These little flying critters are more than just annoying as they can, and have become, a death sentence for humans and animals alike. In 1999, the first case of West Nile Virus in the United States was in New York with 66 cases and 7 confirmed deaths. Also that first year, nine horses succumbed to the disease, but through the years, WNV has been found in alligators, chickens, dogs, horses and especially birds. Numbers continued to rise since those initial U.S. cases, and in 2014, there were 36,437 cases of West Nile Virus reported to the Center for Disease Control. Of these, 15,774 resulted in meningitis/encephalitis and 1538 were fatal. This disease is cycled between birds and mosquitoes with 65 mosquito and 300 bird species testing positive in the U.S. for carrying the West Nile Virus. We know that this disease is being carried by mosquitoes in Kentucky, but what can we do to reduce the number of mosquitoes around our homes and neighborhoods?

With all the rain we've received, it is easy to walk outside around our homes and farms to see just where the containers are that are retaining water. If these are not being used for any specific purpose, remove them completely as mosquitoes may breed in any puddle that lasts more than four days. Drain and turn plastic wading pools and wheelbarrows upside down when not in use and change water in bird baths frequently. Make sure that toys are emptied of any standing water. Removing waste tires from your property is a must as these are the mosquitoes' favorite "home" because tires are a great retainer of water. If you keep waste tires to use on farm equipment, the EPA requires that these tires be stored indoors or covered by sustainable material if kept outside. While the chances of someone dying from West Nile Virus may be slim, why risk your health and that of your family when prevention is the cure?

Bracken County will not have a Tire Amnesty until next year, but there are a few nearby counties that will be hosting tire amnesties this fall and closest to us Harrison County's will be October 15, 16 & 17 at the State Dept. of Highways Garage on Hwy. 32. Any Kentucky resident can dispose of waste tires at any tire amnesty. Scott County will be hosting an amnesty on September 24, 25 & 26; Bourbon County on October 1, 2 & 3; Clark County on October 8, 9 & 10; Nicholas County on October 22, 23 & 24; and Fayette County on October 29, 30 & 31. If anyone needs any further information on any of these, please give us a call. Waste tires need to be disposed of properly and down an embankment and in creeks is not acceptable so please call us with any waste tire issues!

It's been awhile since we mentioned this, but we ask you to please break down or flatten boxes before putting them into the recycling trailers. Lately, there have been numerous large boxes thrown into the trailers, many of them with the packing material still inside. These unbroken boxes take up unnecessary space which limits useable space for all recycling material. We sincerely appreciate your cooperation as you exercise your freedom to preserve and conserve the remaining natural resources by RECYCLING, REUSING and REDUCING to keep God's earth clean, green and beautiful. Be seen' you - Bin & Bug.

46th Annual Street Rod Nationals Plus comes to Louisville Aug. 6-9th

Once again, the National Street Rod Association's annual Street Rod Nationals Plus will be held in Louisville at the beautiful Kentucky Exposition Center on Thurs., August 6th through Sun., August 9th. This will be the 21st time the show, which annually attracts between 10,000 and 15,000 vintage automobiles, will be staged in Louisville. Hours are Thursday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Friday 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Sunday 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Cost is $15 per adult, $6 children 6-12 and under 6 free.

The National Street Rod Association® (NSRA), is headquartered in Memphis, Tennessee with members worldwide. Vehicles will be driven from all parts of the United States to make this a truly unique gathering of vintage automobiles featuring nearly every make, model and style. Once again, the NSRA will include vehicles from the 50's, 60's, and 70's in this event.

New records in attendance are anticipated and everything is being done to insure a top-notch event that will be enjoyable for all that attend. The giant outdoor car show will run from Thursday, August 6th through Sunday, August 9th and every day will be packed with things to do for both spectators and car owners.

There will be displays and demonstrations to look at and over $300 million worth of vintage automobiles to see up close and enjoy from every angle. Each day offers something different, whether one comesto watch or participate. There will be several special ladies activities, which are nonautomotive related. Several of the games have been designed just for the kids. The event is a family activity with something of interest for everyone.

The N.S.R.A. Street Rod Nationals Plus has been called a "street rod fair" and as such, many manufacturers of specialty automobile equipment will annually participate by displaying their products. In addition, several technical seminars will be offered free of charge.

This year's event will, once again, include a special area called "Builder's Showcase" in the Grand Lobby and South Wing lobbies A, B, and C. See cars built by the top professional rod shops in the country. It's the first time all of these cars have ever been seen under one roof at the same time! Be sure and make time to go by, look at these fine works of art and meet the builders.

Special guest at this year's Street Rod Nationals plus will be master builder and television celebrity Chip Foose. He will be signing autographs on Friday and Saturday at the US Mags booth #1031. Details on times will be available at the booth.

There will also be a giant swap meet on the grounds featuring original vintage automotive parts and cars for sale or trade. There will be finished cars for sale as well, so anyone interested in buying or building a vintage vehicle should be able to find what they are looking for. The NSRA Street Rod Nationals Plus is the premier event of the sport each year, and is a must see event for everyone interested in the old car hobby.

Among the feature attractions will be the selection of the New Street Rod Products of the Year.

Awards are also given to the winners of a full schedule of games and contests.

Special recognition awards include Long Distance - Continental United States and Long Distance - Outside Continental United States as well as Club and Association participation honors.

The Street Rod Nationals Plus is four days of action packed fun and it is an event that the automobile owners plan for all year. Many use their annual vacations to make the trip, driving the whole way, visiting attractions and sight seeing along the way. This is one of the largest street rod participation event held anywhere in the world and it will be coming to Louisville. Mark your calendar and plan to attend August 6, 7, 8, 9, 2015. It will be a super show you won't soon forget!

Trail cameras are windows into the woods

A few paces inside a tree line that borders an open field thick with chest-high grass lies a tangle of narrow, sun-dappled game trails just a stone's throw from the Kentucky River below.

Bo Spencer knows deer, turkey, raccoon and the occasional bobcat travel these thoroughfares because a trail camera he set up to photograph the spot has captured images of them.

He's returned this morning to swap out the SD card, replace the batteries and see that the unit is operating properly before moving on to do the same with trail cameras deployed elsewhere on his family's central Kentucky farm.

"You can't spend 24 hours a day in the woods when you work and have family obligations but the camera can," said Spencer, an information specialist with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "You can see what's there that you don't get to see."

Trail cameras have evolved from somewhat of a novelty to one of the most sophisticated and useful tools available to hunters, landowners and wildlife biologists. Biologists use them for research purposes and to derive density estimates.

For hunters, setting trail cameras out now can heighten excitement about the approaching hunting seasons and pay dividends once those seasons open later this summer and fall.

"Your camera can scout when you can't," said Spencer, an avid deer and turkey hunter who makes his own turkey calls. "Whether it's a big deer, turkey or another species that you're looking for, you can find out where it's at. Right now, deer are holding to a summer pattern. You can kind of gear up in preparation for the early archery season."

Bo Spencer, information specialist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, adjusts a trail camera on his family farm in Anderson County. Trail cameras give hunters an idea of the game animals living in a particular area while minimizing human disturbance.

The summer pattern for deer is characterized by limited movement. Therefore, areas near food sources and along travel corridors leading to and from those areas should be a focus.

"Bucks aren't spending a lot of time on their feet. They feed at night or around sunrise and sunset and bed during the day," said Gabe Jenkins, deer and elk program coordinator for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "Your female deer are going to move more because they're feeding fawns. Their nutrient intake needs to be higher, so they'll move a little more."

"The pattern really changes right about the time our archery season opens in early September."

Setting a trail camera in an easy-to-access location minimizes disturbance to the area. Patience can limit pressure felt by the animals. Spencer generally waits one to two weeks before checking a trail camera.

"If I've got one around water that can fluctuate up and down if we get a rain, I'll go move it up, take it down, whatever I need to do to make sure it doesn't wash away or get swamped," he said. "I almost lost a camera to rising water last year."

The right mounting height for a trail camera may depend on the species of animal most likely to be encountered as well as the surrounding vegetation. Wind-blown tall grass or leaves can trip a camera, eating up memory and diminishing battery life.

In general, 36 to 48 inches off the ground is a good rule of thumb. Hunters may want to place their trail cameras higher to get them out of an animal's sight line and above vegetation or if there are concerns about security.

Where the camera is pointed can make a big difference in image quality. Position the camera so the lens isn't pointed directly in the direction of the rising or setting sun. Direct sunlight can cause "lens flare" and reduce image quality. Angling the lens downward can safeguard against this effect.

Batteries are the lifeblood of the trail camera. Spencer doesn't skimp. He prefers name-brand alkaline batteries.

The newest trail cameras take high-resolution photos and high-definition video. Some models can wirelessly text photos to mobile phones or email accounts. Those photos may be stamped with the date and time but also the temperature, barometric pressure and moon phase.

Spencer considers three primary things when choosing a trail camera: ease of use, quality of the pictures and features. He prefers at least an 8 megapixel camera paired with a 4 gigabyte SD memory card.

"You don't have to break the bank but you do want to weigh the options and get one that's going to have really good picture quality," Spencer said. "You could buy an inexpensive trail camera but you may not get a good array of features or good battery life or quality pictures."

Spencer uses three types of trail cameras that vary in cost.

"Mostly, I have infrared cameras because they're often the most affordable," he said. "A lot of times, people use black flash cameras in high-traffic areas where they're trying to hide them from people. White flash cameras are going to produce good night pictures. I really like to use my white flash camera in the fall and winter to take pictures of predators at night. They also work well for deer over a mineral site. The infrared pictures get the black and white at night but can have a limited flash range."

As a hunter would sight-in a rifle or pattern a shotgun before a hunting season, take time to read the owner's manual and familiarize yourself with the trail camera's features and functions. In turn, it will reward you with beautiful images and valuable insight into the land and the animals on it.

Sports in Kentucky by Bob Watkins

A Natural: Kid Kash commits to college on America's birthday

Kash Daniel flexing his pipes and a commit to Kentucky football on America's birthday was as star-spangled-banner natural as Roy Hobbs holding a stick called Wonder Boy.

Paintsville-to-Kentucky, Kid Kash is like native sons Joey Couch going to Flagship U. in the '80s, Tim Couch in the 90s, Patrick Towles and Drew Barker more recently.

How is this commit different? Daniel is 19th commit in a class of much touted high schoolers going with him, including Wesley Jackson from Versailles, Randon Young and Davonte Robinson from Lexington, Zy'Aire Hughes from Paducah, and stay tuned.

And so, (re)born on the 4th of July, Daniel's commit represents newest sparkle of hope that prosperity is on the horizon for football at Kentucky. Again.

What does Daniel's commit mean?

√ Nine weeks before Kentucky's season opener, the word Yaahtzee was back in play. Football conversation put in in shadow for a moment or two, Karl Anthony Towns-to-Jamal Murray roundball, and whatever radio/television talk show John Calipari can get on these days.

√ A nationally rated linebacker staying home in the Bluegrass might cause a yawn in Tuscaloosa, but after On, On UofK, the sweet-to-the-ears chorus to Blue Nation is "... I wanna help the Cats win an SEC championship."

√ Rallies brethren in his class to help recruit more.

√ Daniel and pals could become transition men – their promising future to cool the not-quite-hot seat under Mark Stoop's rump as experts project no better than six wins in Lexington this autumn.

√ Daniel's commit came with a bit of theatric swagger and muscle-flex bravado to amuse the restless natives who will recognize it as linebacker body language and first signs of leadership to inspire teammates.

√ For long-time Wildcat fans, this could be an on-field personality to remind them of Swagger Men from Saturdays past – Wesley Woodyard, Sweetpea Burns, Jim Kovach, Tom Ranieri, Dave Roller, Mike Siganos and Lou Michaels.

√ Rally at the ticket window? Season opener two months away and ticket-buying for UK's eight home games, has been tepid. A media flurry of commit news might bolster ticket sales.

√ Finally, the name, Kash. Refreshing with a strut to it. And, a new emphasis on currency-with-a-K with nothing to do with cash-with-a-Calipari.

U20s HILLTOPPER THREE

Western Kentucky basketball fans can get a summertime preview of three Hilltoppers when they play for Britain and Latvia in the FIBA under 20-European championships this week in Italy.

Junior Ben Lawson and freshman Nathan Smith will play for England, and freshman Kristaps Gluditis for Latvia.

Lawson played for his homeland in the 2013 U18 European Championship and the 2014 U20 tournament.

Competition for all three should be critically to their futures playing for Ray Harper at WKU next winter.

U19s AND LOUISVILLE'S ONUAKU

One good thing going on in Greece last Sunday – USA's Under-19s team made it back-to-back titles at the FIBA World Championships for the first time since 1983, beating Croatia in overtime, 79-71, Sunday.

Louisville sophomore Chinanu Onuaku "provided valuable minutes as an additional interior defender," a FOX Sports release said. Onuaku had six points, eight rebounds and four blocked shots.

READERS (RIGHT) WRITE

"With UK fans hand-wringing lately about John Calipari leaving Kentucky for the NBA, what coach in college ranks today would be a good fit to replace Calipari, and what coach would not?"

Two who 'get it about UK' and could take over in Lexington seamlessly are Bruce Pearl at Auburn and Billy Donovan, Oklahoma City.

A list of college coaches who could never handle the Kentucky job might be more intriguing. Atop my list would be Bo Ryan at Wisconsin, followed by Brad Stevens, Boston Celtics.

In 21st century college hoops Ryan is too Adolph Rupp-like – honest, straight-forward, blunt, demanding, committed to enriching young men by education, and to this remark he made after the Final Four: "I like trying to build from within. That's just the way I am."

As for Brad Stevens at Kentucky? Nada. Besides, he already has an on-the-books NBA job.

Penrod attends Institute for Future Agricultural Leaders

Bracken County Farm Bureau is pleased to have sponsored junior Tia Penrod, of Germantown, at the Kentucky Farm Bureau's Institute for Future Agricultural Leaders (IFAL). Penrod and 45 other high school students from around the state attended the five-day summer leadership conference, held June 21-25 at the University of Kentucky.

An identical IFAL conference was also held June 14-18 at Murray State University for an additional 48 students.

IFAL is designed to expose high school students to college life while helping them explore the different fields of study for careers in agriculture. During the week, attendees gained a better understanding of the nature and needs of the agriculture industry, saw how basic and applied science is utilized in agriculture and learned of the political process used to develop agricultural policy.

Enrollment for 2016 Dairy Margin Protection Program

Agriculture Deputy Secretary Krysta Harden announced that starting July 1, 2015, dairy farmers can enroll in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Margin Protection Program for coverage in 2016. The voluntary program, established by the 2014 Farm Bill, provides financial assistance to participating dairy operations when the margin – the difference between the price of milk and feed costs – falls below the coverage level selected by the farmer. Harden made the announcement while visiting Wolfe's Neck Farm and dairy school in Freeport, Maine.

"More than half of our nation's dairy producers enrolled in the 2015 program, which exceeded our expectations for the first year of the program," said Harden. "We are confident that dairy farmers across the country will again take advantage of this safety net program for 2016. USDA will continue outreach efforts, including partnering with cooperative extension services, to ensure dairy producers are fully informed about the protections that this safety net program can provide during periods of market downturns."

The Margin Protection Program gives participating dairy producers the flexibility to select coverage levels best suited for their operation. Enrollment began July 1 and ends on Sept. 30, 2015, for coverage in 2016. Participating farmers will remain in the program through 2018 and pay a $100 administrative fee each year. Producers also have the option of selecting a different coverage level during open enrollment each year. Margin Protection Program payments are based on an operation's historical production. An operation's historical production will increase by 2.61 percent in 2016 if the operation participated in 2015, providing a stronger safety net.

USDA also has an online resource available to help dairy producers decide which level of coverage will provide them with the strongest safety net under a variety of conditions. The enhanced Web tool, available at www.fsa.usda.gov/mpptool, allows dairy farmers to quickly and easily combine their unique operation data and other key variables to calculate their coverage needs based on price projections. Producers can also review historical data or estimate future coverage based on data projections. The secure site can be accessed via computer, mobile phone or tablet, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Dairy operations enrolling in the program must meet conservation compliance provisions. Producers participating in the Livestock Gross Margin insurance program may register for the Margin Protection Program, but this new margin program will only begin once their Livestock dairy insurance coverage has ended. Producers must also submit form CCC-782 for 2016, confirming their Margin Protection Program coverage level selection, to the local Farm Service Agency (FSA) office. If electing higher coverage for 2016, dairy producers can either pay the premium in full at the time of enrollment or pay a minimum of 25 percent of the premium by Feb. 1, 2016.

The Margin Protection Program was established by the 2014 Farm Bill, which builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past six years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for the taxpayer. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. For more information, visit www.usda.gov/farmline.

For more information, visit FSA online at www.fsa.usda.gov/dairy for more information, or stop by a local FSA office to learn more about the Margin Protection Program. To find a local FSA office in your area, visit <http://offices.usda.gov>.
